

Talking to your doctor about biological therapies

If your doctor is considering a biologic treatment for you, these are some questions you can ask during your next appointment.

QUESTION	NOTES
What benefits does biologic treatment offer me?
Why are you recommending this biologic treatment?
Are there safety factors I should consider?
How do I take the treatment?
How often will I need to take it?
How long does the treatment process take?
What are my responsibilities if I take this treatment?
What happens if I do not respond to this treatment?
How long will the treatment take to show effects?
Will this treatment affect my ability to have children?
Is this a long-term treatment?
Will I be able to stop treatment?
